

Epstein Denies All Knowledge of Theft

Says He Never was in Providence but was at Work at the Weiner Place—Witnesses Called Regarding Weiner's Reputation.

At the reopening of the criminal superior court here on Thursday morning the case of state vs. Epstein and Weiner, charged with horse stealing, was resumed. Clarence E. Eddy of Warwick was called to the stand and testified that he is the son-in-law of Robert Forsythe of Warwick, from whom the horses were stolen. The witness is the manager of the business. Mr. Forsythe is unable to be in attendance at court because of illness. He is confined to his room, being barely able to get about, so that it would be impossible for him to get here. Mr. Eddy described the property stolen and said the horses were worth $700, while the other property was worth $300.

When called, Policeman Henderson told of going with Sheriff Andrews of Warwick to the Weiner farm, where the stolen property was found and where the arrests were made. Others who accompanied the officers and who testified to it were Charles Powers and Eugene Chapman of Montville.

It was the testimony of Joseph Soliz of New London that Weiner tried to trade a horse with him, but he was unable to say whether it was the stolen horse or not. Gordon Avery, who cared for the stolen horse after it was seized by the officers, testified that it was the horse he had seen in Weiner's possession. This completed the direct evidence of the state.

Defense Opens.
Testifying that he was brought up in a town in Austria with Epstein, Morris Fleish of Hartford testified that Epstein was at his home in Hartford from Christmas, 1909, to the last of May, 1910, when he moved to another place in Hartford. Epstein worked for an express company. This was corroborated by Max Burke of Hartford. William Rullnick, a Hartford merchant, told of Epstein having breakfast with him the first day he went to Hartford. He knew of his being there part of the time previously testified to.

Epstein Called.
Most of the afternoon was spent in the examination of Harry Epstein, one of the accused. He was brought to the stand through Attorney Herman Abbot, 2d.

Epstein stated that he is 22 years old and a native of Austria, where he has a wife. He denied stealing the Forsythe horses and said he did not know Needles previous to meeting him on the Weiner place, the day they were arrested. He said that he never met Needles in New York as he de-

Epstein's Reputation.
Attorney C. W. Comstock, counsel for Leon Weiner, called Elias Bishop, Joseph K. Karoll, James Maroney, Jr., W. H. Clark, Abraham Bronstein and Meyer Boyer to testify to the reputation of Weiner. All in their own mind thought he was all right, but none had heard anyone say anything about him one way or the other. Mr. Bronstein stated that he had never heard of stolen tobacco being secured on the Weiner place.

Meyer Boyer interested the spectators and jury when he was asked as to the location of his home in New London. He said it was in Bradley street and he was of the opinion that Bradley street runs north and south. When the state attorney asked him if his home was north or south of the police station, he said he couldn't tell, but upon being pressed for an answer he said he had never figured that out. When asked if he went south when he left his home for State street, his reply was that when he left his home for State street he just went to State street. Adding later on that his home was on the corner of Bradley and John street, the state attorney in cross examination desired to know which of the four corners, and the witness set the crowd to laughing when he put out his hand and waved it and said: "Over there!"

Max Boyer testified to drawing up a lease whereby Mr. Weiner allowed a tenant the use of the farm for keeping summer boarders for four months this summer, reserving the right, however, for using the entire farm for agricultural pursuits, two rooms in the house and the privilege of erecting stands for cigars and candy on the farm as well as the right to carry the boarders and their baggage to and from the farm.

At this point court adjourned until this morning at 10. Judge Burpee notifying the jury that court will not sit today after 3 o'clock.

EASTERN CONNECTICUT
Delegates to Be Asked to Attend Conference at New London.

The New London Business Men's association voted at its regular monthly meeting Wednesday night to invite the co-operation of the business men's association, board of trade and other such bodies of eastern Connecticut in promoting the common agricultural, industrial and seashore interests. This was one of several taken up and discussed at the meeting, which was largely attended by members and public spirited citizens.

President Alexander J. Campbell presided at the session, which was called to order at 7:30 o'clock. After listening to several speak on the advantages of securing the women's college for New London, the following committee was appointed to determine upon a site: A. H. Chappell, chairman; George S. Palmer, E. T. Brown, Prof. Collin S. Buel, principal of the Williams Memorial Institute; Prof. Walter A. Towne, principal of Bulkeley school; Prof. Frederick Hitchcock, principal of the Manual Training and Industrial school; Percy C. Eggleston also spoke in favor of the project as being beneficial to the city. The project has been talked about for the past nineteen years, but has not taken definite shape until recently.

County Historical Society
Annual Meeting to Be Held Next Wednesday.

The annual meeting of the New London County Historical society, which was adjourned from September 1, is to be held Wednesday, September 23. The meeting was adjourned to await the return of George S. Godard of Hartford, who is to address the meeting.

Mr. Godard has not announced the subject of his address, but it is sure to be of interest, as he is a student of Connecticut history.

The business session, which is for members only, will open at 3 o'clock. There will be the reading of the annual reports and the election of officers.

The opening session for the public will be held at 4 o'clock. Mr. Godard's address will come first. Then Miss Elizabeth Gorton will read a paper in Memoriam—Mrs. George Porter. Mrs. Porter was formerly Miss Cornelia W. Chapel, Jr., a valued member of the society.

Capt. A. N. Whipple, superintendent of the Shaw mansion, which is the society's home, will talk on Shaw Mansion from Visitors' View Points.

PICTURE OPERATOR ARRESTED.
Music Hall's Expert Had License Renewed in New York, But Not in Connecticut.

William Ruscoe, the moving picture operator at Music hall, Norwalk, was arrested Tuesday by State Policeman Frank Versell, charged with operating the machine without a license, says the Hour.

The case came up in the Town court before Judge Edward M. Lockwood, the defendant being represented by Attorney John Keogh. Mr. Ruscoe stated to the court that he held a license, dated 1909, from New York state, and had taken examinations in the same state for 1910 license, which he had not yet received. He held that he had it by days grace in this state, in which to appear before the state board and take examinations for a Connecticut license.

Judge Lockwood admitted the right, provided Ruscoe had secured a New York state license this year, and continued the case from day to day until Attorney Keogh could receive and produce evidence to the effect that the defendant had taken examinations for a 1910 license.

Canned Tomatoes.
To can tomatoes without fractional sterilization first pour boiling water on them and put them on the stove in the preserving kettle. Bring them slowly to the boiling degree; skim them often and thoroughly. Boil the tomatoes gently for half an hour, then fill quart glass cans, taken out of boiling water, to overflowing. When each can is filled immediately fit on a new rubber screw on the cover, also taken out of boiling water, as tight as possible. Then as the cans cool, try to screw on the covers more tightly. When quite cold wrap in dark paper and store in the dark.

RANGES
Have Heat on Five Sides of the Oven

The HUB Improved Sheet Flue carries the heat to all sides except the door side. It also makes all six covers available for cooking purposes.

That is why HUB Ranges do their work so much quicker and better than ordinary ranges which have heat on only four sides of oven and under only five covers.

Absolute control is assured by the HUB Single Direct Damper. It is operated by a lever on top of range, plainly marked "open" to kindle, "shut" to bake. Simple, isn't it?
